

IRISH PHILOSOPHICAL CLUB
ANNUAL CONFERENCE 2019

The Club will hold its next meeting on Friday and Saturday, 29th and 30th March 2019 at the Boyne Valley Hotel & Country Club (<http://www.boyne-valley-hotel.ie>) in Drogheda (B&B Single Room: €74; Twin/Double Room : €105; Conference Dinner (Friday): €29.50)

Programme

Friday, March 29

7:00–8:30 Adam Loughnane (University College Cork)
"Merleau-Ponty and the Light-Extended Body"
8:30 Dinner

Saturday, March 30

9:00–9:30 AGM
9:30–11:00 Danielle Petherbridge (University College Dublin)
"Attention, Recognition and Affect: Between Husserl and Honneth"
11:30–1:00 Anil Gomes (University of Oxford)
"Perception, Reflection, Autonomy"
1:00–2:00 Lunch
2:00–3:30 Carmen Fosner (Rowan University)
"Does Peirce Have a Solution to the Epistemic Regress Problem?"

All those those planning to stay at the hotel and/or go to the dinner are asked to contact either Jim Levine, Department of Philosophy, Trinity College, Dublin (jlevine@tcd.ie), Joseph Diekemper, School of Politics, International Studies, and Philosophy, Queen's University, Belfast (j.diekemper@qub.ac.uk), or Jim O'Shea, School of Philosophy, University College Dublin (jim.oshea@ucd.ie) not later than Wednesday 20th March (and letting us know sooner rather than later would be very helpful).

2018-19 Subscription fee (waived for students) of £8 sterling or €10 (which includes the Conference Registration Fee) may be paid at the conference to co-treasurers Dan Deasy or Jim O'Shea, UCD.